

Professional Bio

Navita Sharma is a Senior Research Fellow at the Centre for WTO Studies, New Delhi. Her research contributes to trade policy analysis and supports ongoing and prospective free trade agreements. She previously served as a Research Fellow in the same institution, where she worked on feasibility studies, market access issues, and regional cooperation initiatives. Her broader research interests include government procurement, trade in goods, free trade agreements and inclusive growth. She holds a Master's degree in Economics from Jamia Millia Islamia and a Bachelor's degree in Economics from Sri Venkateswara College, University of Delhi.

Publications:

- Market Opportunities from Government Procurement: Analysis of the US, UK and EU Markets. Working Paper No. 84, Centre for WTO Studies, 2025.
- Untapped Pillar of AfCFTA: A Case for Designing a Government Procurement Protocol. Paper selected for presentation at the International Research Conference on Trade and Development, WTO Chairs Programme, Kigali, Rwanda. (Under review for publication)